Things your PMO is Doing Wrong

How to Advance Project Management in Your Organization

Friday, February 20th, 2009, @7:45am - 11:45AM
Baldwin-Wallace College – Strosacker College Union, Berea

Join Michael Hatfield, author of the recently released book Things Your PMO Is Doing Wrong (PMI Publishing, 2008), will share techniques on how to assess your organization's support for advancing project management, and discuss what elements can derail your efforts. Part of the program will be spent on a life case study, using M. Hatfield's assessment model to evaluate an existing organization's current state and design an approach to advance PMO efforts specific to their culture.

Agenda:

7:45-8:30 Registration, breakfast

8:30-10 How to Advance Project Management in Your Organization

10-10:15 Break

10:15-11:45 Case Study and Group Work

Sixth Sense Communication

(How to Communicate in Projects)

Friday, February 27 2009, 8:00am - 12:00pm
Independence, OH

Event Outline: Understanding how to communicate in a project setting is a vital skill for project managers and those who facilitate change. Results define project success and communicating an effective vision is a critical component needed to gain results. Developing a message and communicating it using written, verbal and visual forms is key to telling your projects story and helping others understand its importance within the organization.

Capitalizing on the Product of Project Plan and Schedule Integration - Solving the Mystery

Presented by Lee R. Lambert, PMP, CEO

Wednesday, April 08 2009, 8:30am - 4:30pm
Hawthorne Valley Country Club, Cleveland, OH

Overview: This program will examine the concept of critical project planning functions and demonstrate how to convert the fundamental project plan into a fully integrated precedence diagram to be used to develop and manage resource allocations, cost distribution, and “domino” effect risk identification and impact analysis.
